About Pretty Flours

Pretty Flours handprinted products are all made using stamps I carve by hand. My stamps create impressions that emulate gardens, both real and imagined. Using hand-mixed paint colors applied to the stamps with a brush, creates variations in color, texture, saturation, and tone. Each of my textiles is created one at a time and is a unique work of art.

Everything is sewn by small manufacturers, thus sizes may vary by 1/4" or so from item to item. I use eco-friendly, food safe fabric paints and each towel, apron, runner, napkin and pillow is heat set to withstand rigorous use and repeated laundering. Each of my textiles is labeled with a tag attached by a hand sewn button.

My paper goods –cards and wrapping paper– are created from my original, hand printed art work. Prints made on paper are professionally reproduced – printed on an off-set press on high-quality papers at a printing facility powered by renewable energy, right here in Maine. Cards and wrapping paper come packaged for sale. All of my work is signed with my hand carved signature chop.

Quality is important to me. The fabrics I use have been chosen for their exceptional appearance and durability. I am committed to sourcing fabrics, papers, packaging and other materials that have been manufactured in a manner that respects the health of our planet.
